LAMB & HOLMES

Lamb & Holmes organised a highly successful and beneficial collaboration coffee morning during National Conveyancing Week 2023 and are already looking forward to what their 2024 event will bring.

They invited local estate agents that they deal with and for this year they are looking to extend the invitation to others and cast their net a little wider.

It was a great turnout and they enjoyed being able to meet with them and have face-to-face, informal conversations. They feel this has given them better working relationships with the agents as both sides now who is on the other side of the telephone and aware of who they are speaking with.
